dynamic, and it is especially important to have a reliable and strong partner. We are confident in our continued partnership with BGS."

In 2021, SkyUp Airlines ranked second among Ukrainian airlines in terms of the number of passengers carried. Since 2022, SkyUp Airlines has begun expanding its international operations by operating flights under ACMI agreements. In 2023, the company received an AOC in Malta, allowing the airline group to operate under the SkyUp Airlines brand while providing scheduled flights in European airspace. Since 2025, SkyUp Airlines is further expanding its operations by launching scheduled flight routes from Moldova and Poland to European cities.

Cooperation with the tour operator Join UP! presented SkyUp Airlines the opportunity to operate flights from Riga and Tallinn airports from May 2022. The partnership with BGS established in November of the same year to this day continues ensuring high-quality and reliable aircraft fuel supply to the airline.
