SINGAPORE AIRLINES SELECTS AMSTERDAM AS ITS FIRST AIRBUS A350-900 DESTINATION

News / Airports / Routes

Singapore Airlines (Singapore) has announced Amsterdam will be the inaugural destination for its new-generation Airbus A350 fleet, with services expected to begin by April 2016.

Singapore Airlines has 63 A350-900s on firm order, the first of which is due for delivery in January 2016. Prior to the introduction of Amsterdam services, the aircraft will be operated on select Jakarta and Kuala Lumpur flights on a temporary basis, for crew training purposes.

Additional A350 destinations are to be announced in the coming months.

Singapore Airlines expects to take delivery of 11 A350-900s in the aircraft's first year of operation. In addition to the 63 firm orders, the Airline has purchase options for 20 additional A350s.

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.

SOURCE: WORLDAIRLINESNEWS
ARTICLE LINK:
https://50skyshades.com/news/airports-routes/singapore-airlines-selects-amsterdam-as-its-first-airbus-a350-900-destination

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.