Signature Aviation launched a new web platform designed to transform the industry's traditional methods of searching and leasing aviation real estate. The new real estate platform, now live on Signature's website, provides prospective and current residents with real-time access to available ramp, hangar and office space across Signature's global network, enabling them to seamlessly browse, filter, and initiate leasing inquiries in one place.

Derek DeCross, Chief Commercial Officer, Signature Aviation commented: “Our guests and residents rely on an exceptional experience at every Signature touchpoint. Expanding our digital presence with this new platform transforms the search for available hangar, ramp, or office space, creating a more intuitive process the industry has been missing. With this announcement, we’re creating an easier path to base your aircraft within Signature’s industry-leading network and a faster way to unlock the powerful, exclusive benefits that come with being a part of Signature’s Resident Premier program.”

On the new platform, prospective and current residents can:

- View and search listings by availability date, space size, hangar door height, and other key specifications.
- Filter results by specific criteria in real time with no wait on additional communications.
- Access essential listing details and photos to quickly compare multiple properties.
- Automatically route inquiries through Signature’s digital leasing workflow, including application and quote generation.

Real estate listings are entirely dedicated to showcasing Signature-managed properties, including advanced sorting tools, without the clutter of non-network listings. This will give prospective and current residents the ability to pinpoint exactly what they require for their aircraft and operations.

Signature residents also enjoy membership in Resident Premier and its suite of benefits, which help reduce operational costs and unlock easier access throughout over 200 private aviation terminals. Resident benefits feature discounted fuel, free ground power on departure, priority on-the-road hangar space, member giveaways, and more.
