AZAL WILL RESUME FLIGHTS TO GENEVA

News / Airlines, Airports / Routes

Starting from October 30 this year, Azerbaijan Airlines (AZAL) will start Baku-Geneva-Baku flights.

AZAL flights will be carried out as part of a joint charter program for the classic transportation scheme, which includes free baggage and hand luggage and meals on board.

AZAL's J2-5009 / J2-5010 flights will be carried out twice a week on Tuesdays and Fridays with Airbus A319 aircraft with improved comfort seats in three service classes - VIP Club, Business Class and Economy Class.

Departures will be carried out from Terminal 1 of Heydar Aliyev International Airport.

Geneva is the second most populous and largest cityin Switzerland. The city is located between the mountains of Jura and the Alps. It is the administrative center of the canton of the same name. The pearl of the city is its Lake Leman with a beautiful lakefront and luxurious hotels around. Today, Geneva is the world's financial, political and scientific center, and is also the starting point for trips to the ski resorts of Switzerland and France.

Air tickets can be booked on the website of the company www.azal.az and purchased at AZAL sales offices and official sales agencies.
