News / Business aviation

OPUL Jets announced the acquisition of Wallcourt Aviation. This strategic move unites two of the UK's private aviation firms under the OPUL Jets brand, enhancing its global presence while preserving Wallcourt Aviation's distinguished legacy of excellence in private jet charter. A key priority of this acquisition is ensuring continuity. Wallcourt Aviation's existing management, operational systems, and service standards will transition seamlessly to OPUL Jets, guaranteeing that clients will continue to experience the same level of professionalism, reliability, and personalised service they have expected. It will provide clients with an even broader range of aircraft options and enhanced flexibility—whether for short-haul regional travel or long-range international journeys. This acquisition further strengthens OPUL Jets' position as a leader in the luxury aviation sector, reaffirming its commitment to safety, convenience, and exclusivity.
