NORSE ATLANTIC AIRWAYS TO ESTABLISH AT STOCKHOLM ARLANDA AIRPORT – WILL LAUNCH A DIRECT ROUTE TO BANGKOK

News / Airlines, Airports / Routes

Norse Atlantic Airways will establish at Stockholm Arlanda Airport ahead of winter 2025 with a direct route to Bangkok. Norse Atlantic will be an important addition to Stockholm Arlanda, further connecting Sweden with the important markets in Thailand. The route will be operated two times a week, on Wednesdays and Sundays.

Founded in March 2021, Norse Atlantic Airways is an airline specializing in affordable, long-haul, direct flights to popular destinations. Norse Atlantic will establish at Stockholm Arlanda Airport with a direct route to Bangkok, Thailand, ahead of the 2025 winter schedule. The route will not only serve as an important connection to the Thai capital but also as an important link in the supply chain with cargo such as technology benefitting from faster delivery times.

Jonas Abrahamsson, president and CEO of Swedavia commented:"There is great confidence in the Swedish air travel market and Norse Atlantic’s investment in a direct route from Stockholm Arlanda Airport to Bangkok Suvarnabhumi Int'l is a clear sign of this. Norse Atlantic will play an important role in connecting Sweden to Thailand. Swedavia’s main goal is to increase the connectivity, and this addition to the airports overall offer further facilitates for people to meet, whether it is for business, leisure or to visit family and friends."

Bjørn Tore Larsen, CEO and Founder of Norse Atlantic Airways stated: "With our entry in Sweden
