

BUILDING QATAR AIRWAYS' 50TH BOEING 777 – IN PICTURES

News / Airlines

Qatar Airways received its 50th Boeing 777 recently, taking the total count of aircraft in operation to more than 180 single aisle and widebody aircraft. More than 35 per cent of the airline's route network is operated with a Boeing 777.

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

When Qatar Airways' first Boeing 777 order was made in 2006, the airline's network reached just over 50 destinations. Now a decade later, with more than 150 destinations, the Boeing 777 has formed a core part of the fleet, and has been the backbone of the long haul and the ultra-long haul route expansion strategy. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

“We place passenger comfort and the flying experience at the forefront of our aircraft programme, and with the introduction of the Boeing 777 into the fleet just under a decade ago, our crew and passengers have come to know how comfortable and spacious the cabins are,” said Qatar Airways group chief executive Akbar Al Baker. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

Qatar Airways recently announced it will serve Auckland, New Zealand, from the airline's hub in Doha, making it the longest commercial route in the world at 18 hours and 20 minutes from the airline's hub in Doha, utilising the Boeing 777. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

Qatar Airways received its 50th Boeing 777 recently. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

The aircraft is moved outside and awaits its livery. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

In addition to passenger capacity, the total cargo capacity for the Boeing 777 Freighters carry 102 metric tonnes. Cargo is an essential part of the Qatar Airways growth strategy, and Qatar Airways Cargo is currently positioned as the third largest cargo carrier in the world. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

Qatar Airways is now in its 19th year of operations. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

The configuration of the passenger versions of the Boeing 777s vary from 335 total seats on the Boeing 777-ER (Extended Range) comprised of 42 seats in Business Class and 293 in Economy Class, to 259 seats on the Boeing 777-LR (Long Range) across a two-class configuration of 42 in Business Class and 217 in Economy Class. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

Building Qatar Airways' 50th Boeing 777 – in pictures

Image not found or type unknown

The new seats await their first passengers. Courtesy Boeing and Qatar Airways

16 MAY 2016

SOURCE: THE NATIONAL

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://50skyshades.com/index.php/news/airlines/building-qatar-airways-50th-boeing-777-in-pictures>