

EBACE - IT IS NOT ONLY WORK

News / Business aviation, Events / Festivals

Traditional business aviation exhibition EBACE in Geneva starts already less than in two weeks. Everyone who once participated knows - this event is one of the most important for companies operating on the business aviation market. A lot of meetings and negotiations, presentations and media events at PalEXPO during all three days of work.

Often, you just don't have enough of forces to ensure at least a little relax and rediscovery of Switzerland's beauty. Ancient friends from Swift ?opter (part of the HBG Group, owned by Renaud Blanc) offers a certain compromise. Several fascinating helicopter routes along the Swiss Alps, and for the convenience of guests, aircraft will be taking off directly from Geneva International Airport.

You have options:

Discovery of Mont Blanc

Fly from Geneva Airport, over the city and its famous Jet d'Eau fountain, and onward to Mont Blanc and the Arve Valley. Gaze at the Graian Alps, the parent range of Europe's tallest peak, in the distance. Proceed on to the Dome du Goûter and the top of Mont Blanc, then veer by the Argentière Glacier and the Aiguilles Rouges. Your helicopter will then make its approach above the glacier and land at the Argentière helipad, where a van will be waiting to drive you to Chamonix for a 2-hour shopping trip. The flight back to Geneva Airport will take you over French portion of the Chablais region, with its splendid view of Lake Geneva. * It is possible to lunch at the Ferme du Tornieux, which faces Mont Blanc, instead of landing at Argentières. Please note that lunch is not included in the price of the tour.

Discovery of The Majestic glacier du Trient

Fly from Geneva Airport, over the city and its famous Jet d'Eau fountain, and onward to Mont Blanc and the Arve Valley. Land on the Glacier du Trient and take in the breathtaking panorama around you while sipping a glass of chilled Champagne at an altitude of 3,260 metres. The flight back to Geneva Airport will take you over French portion of the Chablais region, with its splendid view of Lake Geneva.

SwiftCopter can also offer individual tours, lasting from 40 minutes to two hours.
