

NORSE ATLANTIC AIRWAYS TO ESTABLISH AT STOCKHOLM ARLANDA AIRPORT – WILL LAUNCH A DIRECT ROUTE TO BANGKOK

News / Airlines, Airports / Routes

Norse Atlantic Airways will establish at Stockholm Arlanda Airport ahead of winter 2025 with a direct route to Bangkok. Norse Atlantic will be an important addition to Stockholm Arlanda, further connecting Sweden with the important markets in Thailand. The route will be operated two times a week, on Wednesdays and Sundays.

Founded in March 2021, Norse Atlantic Airways is an airline specializing in affordable, long-haul, direct flights to popular destinations. Norse Atlantic will establish at Stockholm Arlanda Airport with a direct route to Bangkok, Thailand, ahead of the 2025 winter schedule. The route will not only serve as an important connection to the Thai capital but also as an important link in the supply chain with cargo such as technology benefitting from faster delivery times.

Jonas Abrahamsson, president and CEO of Swedavia commented: "There is great confidence in the Swedish air travel market and Norse Atlantic's investment in a direct route from Stockholm Arlanda Airport to Bangkok Suvarnabhumi Int'l is a clear sign of this. Norse Atlantic will play an important role in connecting Sweden to Thailand. Swedavia's main goal is to increase the connectivity, and this addition to the airports overall offer further facilitates for people to meet, whether it is for business, leisure or to visit family and friends."

Bjørn Tore Larsen, CEO and Founder of Norse Atlantic Airways stated: "With our entry in Sweden and the launch of our Stockholm-Bangkok route, Norse Atlantic Airways is redefining long-haul travel, challenging a market long dominated by legacy carriers. This new route ensures travelers have a premium yet budget-friendly choice on one of the most in-demand long-haul routes. Our modern Boeing 787 Dreamliners, combined with exceptional service from our crew, deliver affordable and comfortable flights to cost-conscious travelers, making global connections more accessible, seamless and enjoyable for everyone."

Starting on October 29th 2025, Norse Atlantic will operate Stockholm Arlanda Airport (ARN) – Bangkok Suvarnabhumi Int'l (BKK) route two times a week, on Wednesdays and Sundays, until the end of the winter season. The route will be operated by a Boeing 787 Dreamliner, seating 338 passengers featuring Premium and Economy Class.
