

RJ AND VUELING AIRLINES SIGN COOPERATION AGREEMENT

News / Airlines

Royal Jordanian and Spanish low cost carrier Vueling Airlines signed an interline agreement whereby RJ passengers can connect to Vueling's 150 cities via the latter's hub in Barcelona and to 65 destinations from Rome's Fiumicino Airport, Vueling's second hub.

The deal will enable Royal Jordanian to offer its passengers further connections soon. RJ customers will thus find more travel options to hundreds of cities via these European hubs.

Under the new agreement, RJ passengers can book their flights –including the RJ and Vueling segments – on a single ticket, and check in their luggage through to the final destination.

Vueling's destinations can be reached by passengers arriving on Royal Jordanian's three weekly flights from Amman to Barcelona or its five weekly flights from Amman to Rome, and then on to Vueling's destinations.

Vueling signed similar agreements with Cathay Pacific and Hainan Airline, and has previous accords with American Airlines, British Airways and Qatar Airways.
