

A NEW WAY TO FLY TO CUBA, FROM PROVIDENCIALES, TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS

News / Airports / Routes

This December sees the launch of a new Gateway to the island of Cuba from Providenciales (PLS), Turks & Caicos Islands. Services to Santiago de Cuba (SCU) commence on December 10th, 2015.

With this new service to Santiago from Providenciales, visitors to the Turks & Caicos Islands will be able enjoy easy access to Eastern Cuba with the initial twice weekly flights.

interCaribbean Airways, the official airline of the Turks and Caicos Islands, announced its new route to Santiago de Cuba, with services to Havana, Jose Marti International Airport (HAV), Cuba, slated to start in early 2016. These new flights expands the airline's total list of destinations to 18 cities throughout the Caribbean, making interCaribbean the best choice for "connecting you and the Caribbean".

With increased air services from USA and Canada and the recent addition of a second London frequency by British Airways to Providenciales, this service provides timely international connections to this new service and allowing additional island choices for the vacation traveler to combine several Islands. It is Ideal for People to People travelers ready to visit the culture of Cuba.

25 NOVEMBER 2015

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://50skyshades.com/index.php/news/airports-routes/a-new-way-to-fly-to-cuba-from-providenciales-turks-caicos-islands>