

BODY FOUND IN LANDING GEAR OF PLANE AT PARIS AIRPORT

News / Airports / Routes

A man's body was found at Paris' Orly airport in the landing gear of an Air France plane that had flown in from Brazil, police and airport sources said.

The corpse was discovered during maintenance operations on the Boeing 777 at Orly after flying in to Paris' main international Charles de Gaulle airport from Sao Paulo two days earlier, a police source said.

The body is undergoing examination at Paris' forensic institute so it can be identified, an airport source said.

In a similar case in 2013, a dead stowaway was found in the landing gear of a plane that had landed at Charles de Gaulle from Cameroon.

12 JANUARY 2016

SOURCE: AEROTIME

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://50skyshades.com/index.php/news/airports-routes/body-found-in-landing-gear-of-plane-at-paris-airport>