

LONDON OXFORD AIRPORT OFFERS FREE SHUTTLE SERVICES TO NEW RAIL STATION

News / Airports / Routes

London Oxford Airport has begun offering business jet passengers and crew complimentary shuttle services to and from Oxford Parkway Station.

The station, located five minutes' away from the airport, offers high speed services to Marylebone Station in just under an hour, with trains running every 30 minutes.

"The thoroughly modern transport hub at Oxford Parkway with its new highly convenient rail link to London offers yet more choice for our London bound customers and we are delighted to support the connection with free shuttle services on request."

Andi Alexander, managing director of London Oxford Airport said: "The thoroughly modern transport hub at Oxford Parkway with its new highly convenient rail link to London offers yet more choice for our London bound customers and we are delighted to support the connection with free shuttle services on request. We expect many of our executive customers will take advantage of it, making London Oxford an even better choice for those wanting to avoid the congestion of the busier airports around the capital."
