The German scheduled and executive charter airline, Hahn Air Lines, today introduced a dedicated website, www.hahnair.aero, showcasing information about its scheduled routes as well as its business aviation operations.

Until now, Hahn Air Lines flight operations content had been embedded in the website of the Hahn Air Group, www.hahnair.com, in the Hahn Air Lines section. Hahn Air Lines is fully owned by the Hahn Air Group, a corporation that is especially known within the travel industry for its distribution and ticketing solutions.

“The increased success of our flight operations activities called for the creation of a dedicated Hahn Air Lines website”, says Daniel Rudas, General Manager and COO of Hahn Air Lines. “Over the past years, we have significantly increased our charter segment and made a name for ourselves in the business aviation industry. In addition, we have launched a second scheduled route with our popular summer service between Dusseldorf and Palma de Mallorca.”

The new website presents in-depth information on route schedules, the all-Cessna business jet fleet and the Hahn Air Lines team on the ground and in the air, including contact details. It also describes the unique concept behind Hahn Air Lines' business charter operations, the Connoisseur Service, which stands for the highest quality and safety combined with personalised services and great attention to detail. The website www.hahnair.aero is currently available in English and German.
