OHS Aviation Services, the interior refurbishment specialist, headquartered in Berlin Schönefeld SXF, has just completed its 15th full vip refurbishment on a Bombardier Global cabin for an undisclosed private customer.

"We are proud to have successfully performed another high quality cabin refurbishment in-house in less than eight weeks, says the ceo of OHS, Ornulf Hilarius. "None of the interior items were completed with standard materials, so we are thankful to all our suppliers, the designer, customer representatives and of course to all inhouse craftsmen for a smooth and on time project."

The cabin design was created by Tim Callies for ArcosJet Design and brought a very exclusive, modern and inviting atmosphere into the old cabin. A combination of dark chocolate brown, light cream and nuances of green accented the contemporary design.

The vip refurbishment included a new seat design, seat belts, new carpet, counter tops, divan re-covering, wood veneer rework, new sidewall and ceiling coverings, engineering as well as individualized accessoires such as monogrammed towels and pillows with finest fabrics from Dedar and Hermés.

"We are very happy with the quality of the refurbishment. We received exactly what we have expected," a spokesperson said on behalf of the customer.
