

PHENIX JET CAYMAN EXPANDS ITS FOOTPRINT INTO SOUTHEAST ASIA WITH A NEW SINGAPORE BRANCH

News / Business aviation

In response to the growing demand for aircraft management and charter services in Southeast Asia Phenix Jet Cayman opens Phenix Jet Cayman SEZC Singapore branch. As the No.1 Asia-based charter fleet company, Phenix Jet has built a strong track record in East Asia. With the establishment of the new branch, Phenix Jet will start offering its one-of-a-kind Japanese-style service and hospitality to meet clients' demand within the fast-growing Southeast Asian region, all the while adhering to the highest global aviation safety standards.

Andrew Svoboda, CEO, Phenix Jet Cayman SEZC, commented: "Phenix Jet is delighted with the response from the industry and potential clientele concerning the expansion of our offering of this region. We are excited to continue the successful product implementation with our proven track record of success."

Yohei Sakurai, Manager, Business Jet Section, Aerospace & Transportation Project Division, Sojitz Corporation, said: "Through the establishment of the Singapore branch, Phenix Jet will expand its geographical coverage to Southeast Asia and meet a wide range of clients' need. We will continue challenging ourselves to become one of the top operators in Asia."

Under the backdrop of Singapore being the earliest country to lift its Covid restrictions in Asia, affluent clients around the world have started shifting their Asian wealth base to Singapore, which is helping drive Singapore to become the future business hub of Asia. The number of aircraft in Singapore and other Southeast Asia countries has increased steadily, and the establishment of the Singapore branch will support the accelerating demand in Southeast Asia from potential clients regarding their aircraft management and charter services businesses. The new branch will also allow Phenix Jet to increase its rapidly growing presence from East Asia to Southeast Asia.
