The new site will offer tremendous value to entrepreneurs, business professionals, as well as the independent traveler. "This is a cutting edge internet site far superior to anything in the marketplace," said Chris Fernandez, marketing manager.

Traditionally, there are a few ways to acquire miles (by flying, using a credit card, or direct purchase from the airlines). All of them have restrictions and limits, or are generally too slow to be effective.

At The Mileage Club you no longer have to wait to earn miles on your favorite airlines. You can buy them at prices much cheaper, as often as you like, with no restrictions on the number of miles you may purchase.

Whether you need miles to top off your Account, or just need to buy miles for an upcoming trip, The Mileage Club makes it easy for you to order the miles online from the comfort of your home or office.

Big and small businesses globally are realizing the power of using frequent flyer miles, especially internationally, where purchasing miles to fly in business and first class is saving them a lot of money which is great for all businesses considering travel is one of the largest expenses a company can have.
