

WELCOME NICK WESTON, NEW CHAIRMAN OF BACA

News / Business aviation, Personalities

Since 14th March 2019 BACA, The Air Charter Association, has a new Chairman. Our congratulations to Mr Nick Weston, a well known CEO of Weston Aviation!

Speaking about his appointment as Chairman, Weston said “I am delighted and honoured to be elected as the next Chairman of the Association. After being a member for nearly 25 years and having served both as Council Member and Deputy Chairman, I feel the time is right for me to take up the role of chair. Under Richard’s chairmanship the Association has seen significant growth in membership numbers, its global reach has increased dramatically and the support and guidance we are able to offer our members has been significantly enhanced. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Richard, on behalf of the council and all our members, for his incredible hard work and commitment. It is thanks to his dedication that the Association is where it is today, and with the continued support of the council and our members I am very much looking forward to taking BACA - The Air Charter Association to the next level and beyond”.

Outgoing Chairman Mumford commented “I am proud to have served the Association as Chairman for the past three years. During that period we have driven an ambitious programme of development that has helped transform and modernise the Association tremendously. I am grateful to the Council and all our members for the incredible support I’ve received throughout my tenure. As the Association celebrates its 70th birthday, I can think of no better person to take up leadership of the next phase in BACA’s life than Nick Weston. I am delighted to see him succeed me in the role.”

At the Spring lunch on 3rdApril the formal handover will take place in front of the assembled association members and guests.
