

TERRY VAIS TO SUCCEED ALEX MARREN AS EXPRESSJET CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER; BRAD SHEEHAN NAMED SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OPERATIONS

News / Airlines, Personalities

SkyWest, Inc. (NASDAQ: SKYW) announced today the selection of Terry Vais as Chief Operating Officer of ExpressJet Airlines, Inc., effective Sept. 9, 2015. He will succeed Alex Marren, who has accepted a promotion as Executive Vice President at Hertz Corporation. As Chief Operating Officer, Vais will oversee ExpressJet's operations and activities, including Flight Operations, In-Flight operations, Maintenance, and partner relationships.

"Alex assembled an outstanding leadership team that performed immediately and continues to produce solid results," said SkyWest, Inc. President Chip Childs. "We thank her for her exceptional leadership and wish her the very best as she pursues other ambitions."

"I'm confident that ExpressJet will continue to perform under Terry's leadership," continued Childs. "His track record and expertise have been instrumental in ExpressJet's improvement over the last two years, and his strong leadership and commitment to ExpressJet's long-term success will ensure the airline continues to excel.”

Vais’ aviation career spans 25 years and ranges from hub operations to partner relations, network and operational control, most recently serving as ExpressJet’s vice president of Operations, Planning and Support. After serving four years’ active duty in the Marine Corps, Terry held a number of senior-level positions at SkyWest Airlines. Prior to joining ExpressJet in 2008, he was the director of Hub Operations at Los Angeles International Airport. He resides in Newnan, Ga., with his wife.

Additionally, Brad Sheehan, currently ExpressJet’s vice president of Flight Operations, will assume the role of senior vice president of Operations. In this position, he will oversee all of ExpressJet’s Flight Operations, including the airline’s Operations Control Center.

“Brad is an exceptional aviator and dedicated and dynamic professional,” said Vais. “His passion for ExpressJet’s performance, culture and people is established in his 16 years of leadership here and I’m confident he will continue to help us achieve great things in his new role.”

Sheehan brings a diverse and solid leadership experience to his role, and has served as a pilot, program manager, check airman, chief pilot and director of Corporate Safety, Security and Compliance. He has served as vice president of Flight Operations since January 2014. Sheehan holds a degree in Aviation Management from Auburn University. He resides in Atlanta, Ga., with his wife and son.

24 AUGUST 2015

ARTICLE LINK:

<https://50skyshades.com/index.php/news/personalities/terry-vais-to-succeed-alex-marren-as-expressjet-chief-operating-officer-brad-sheehan-named-senior-vice-president-operations>