

BUSINESS GROWTH FOR THE KIMBRELL GROUP

News / Business aviation

Kimbrell Group headquartered in Miami, Florida, is experiencing charter sales growth both domestically and internationally.

The Group is adding to its aircraft management division with its long term partner, My Corporate Jet Inc and Kimbrell Group will now have another aircraft under its air charter operator marketing fleet.

Representing the second private jet under aircraft operator marketing for the company, the nine passenger mid-size private jet Sabreliner 65 will meet the demand for mid-size private jet charters.

“Based of our successful relationship with Kimbrell Group, My Corporate Jet Inc has been able to add a second private jet to our air carrier certificate.”

Gustavo Lorenzo, director of Operations at My Corporate Jet said: “Based of our successful relationship with Kimbrell Group, My Corporate Jet Inc has been able to add a second private jet to our air carrier certificate. We believe that this newest addition will strengthen our partnership and further develop our private jet charter sales throughout the USA, Caribbean Islands and South America. I look forward to the future and to continuing our thriving business relationship with Kimbrell Group.”

Lorenzo added that there are plans for the purchase of two additional private jets.

“I am very excited about this announcement. I truly believe that the addition of this new luxury private jet will continue the growth and success of the Kimbrell Groups aircraft management and operator marketing program.”

Gabriel Kimbrell, CEO of Kimbrell Group said: “I am very excited about this announcement. I truly believe that the addition of this new luxury private jet will continue the growth and success of the Kimbrell Groups aircraft management and operator marketing program. This new private jet perfectly matches the level of comfort and luxury service that newer midsize jet features at light jet prices and I am sure that our existing and future customers will benefit from this latest addition.”

Additionally, the Kimbrell Group recently unveiled a new complimentary inflight catering menu, which has been specifically created for Kimbrell Group.

“Our objective is to cover every detail of the flight and provide customers with the best travel experience possible. From a fine bottle of French wine to a specific magazine, we strive to customize all private jet flights according to the client’s tastes so that they can rest, enjoy the flight and focus on what really matters to them” added Kimbrell.

Kimbrell Group is a Florida based company specialising in jet, turboprop and helicopter sales, charters, management and consulting.
