Ettore Poggi, Group FBO Director, Luxaviation Group, says: “It is a vital part of our growth plan for the Luxaviation Group to open facilities in new locations, and where better to welcome our VIP clients and crews than this wonderful group of islands in the Indian Ocean. We are excited to be welcoming another facility to our global network and look forward to extending our service offering by opening more in the future.”

Mr Abdul Jalil, CEO of Euro Aviation, says: “We are delighted that ExecuJet will fully operate and manage this exciting FBO and look forward to making the Seychelles a destination of choice for many dignitaries and VIP users of General Aviation.”

The Seychelles FBO joins ExecuJet’s network of African facilities, alongside those at Lanseria and Cape Town International airports in South Africa and Murtala Muhammed International Airport in Lagos, Nigeria. This new facility brings ExecuJet’s total number of FBOs to 27 worldwide.
