Attendees will also have the opportunity to meet Bombardier's renowned customer support team, whose commitment to service excellence has earned the company the top position in AIN's Product Support Survey for three consecutive years and Professional Pilot's Corporate Aircraft Product Support Survey for two consecutive years. Complementing the aircraft display, guests will be invited to discover L'Expérience by Bombardier within the company's hospitality chalet. This immersive and carefully curated journey provides an exclusive glimpse into the vision, craftsmanship and technological innovation behind Bombardier's industry-leading business jets, including the flagship Global 8000.

As part of its presence at NBAA-BACE, Bombardier will host a special Pilot Talk featuring renowned aviator and actor John Travolta. Type-rated on more than a dozen aircraft, including a Bombardier Global Express, Travolta will share insights and personal reflections gathered over five decades of flying. The session, titled Beyond the Flight Deck, will take place at Bombardier's static display on October 20 at 3:00 p.m., offering attendees a unique perspective on aviation, leadership and a lifelong passion for flight.

Éric Martel, President and Chief Executive Officer, Bombardier commented: "NBAA-BACE is an important moment for us to showcase the strength of Bombardier’s leadership in business aviation from our industry-leading customer service to the fastest business jet in the world. Our focus has always been on investing in our people, advancing innovation and expanding our global network to deliver the level of service and support our customers expect throughout the life of their aircraft. Having our flagship Global 8000, Global 6500 and Challenger 3500 aircraft on site says a lot about the strength of our portfolio and why customers continue to choose Bombardier, time and time again."

Bombardier will also support the Corporate Angel Network's Fund an Angel event as a Platinum Sponsor. Scheduled for October 21 at Fontainebleau Las Vegas' Waterbleau Terrace, the event raises vital funds to help cancer patients access specialized treatment through complimentary travel on corporate and commercial aircraft, bringing care within reach for those who need it most.

Throughout the convention, Bombardier will welcome customers, media representatives and industry leaders across its static display and hospitality venues, creating opportunities to explore its exceptional aircraft portfolio, industry-leading support capabilities and long-term vision for the future of business aviation.
