

NEWCOMERS TO LUXAVIATION FLEET 2019

News / Business aviation

Do you think one aircraft per month joining the company's fleet means a fast growing one? Business aviation professionals will say a definitive "yes" to answer that question. This is the average fleet growth speed for one of wellknown business aviation aircraft management companies - Luxaviation Europe in 2019.

Luxaviation reported an influx of new aircraft to its managed fleet in Europe, with two new additions – a Bombardier Global Express XRS and a Global 5000 – bringing the total to nine jets joining in nine months.

Niclas von Planta, Vice President, Luxaviation Europe, says: "Having an average of one aircraft joining our managed fleet every month attests to the care and expertise shown by our staff members for each client, whether they're new to Luxaviation or have a long-standing relationship with us.

"Our aircraft management service provides all the benefits of ownership, without the added hassle of managing operations. This gives our customers greater efficiencies and lower costs than acting as an individual. Plus, they can enjoy peace of mind knowing that their aircraft's compliance, maintenance and upkeep is being taken care of by skilled, experienced practitioners.

As business jet ownership levels increase worldwide, we are fully prepared to meet the growing demand for aircraft management, no matter where our customers are based across the globe.”
