

AIRWAYS AVIATION GROUP EXPANDS DIAMOND AIRCRAFT & AUSTRO ENGINE SERVICE CAPABILITIES THROUGH NEW GLOBAL AGREEMENT

News / Maintenance / Trainings

Airways Aviation Group, the largest owner-operator of Diamond Aircraft in Europe and the second highest Diamond Aircraft flight-hour operator globally throughout 2024, announced the signing of a new Service Partner Agreement with Diamond Aircraft. The agreement appoints both Airways Aviation Italy (Professione Volare) and Airways Aviation Australia as Diamond Aircraft and Austro Engine Gold Service Centres. This milestone follows the appointment of Airways Aviation ESMA (France) maintenance and engineering services as a Gold Diamond Service Centre in December 2024.

Under this new arrangement, Airways Aviation Group solidifies its ongoing commitment to enhancing service quality and extending its reach within the general aviation market worldwide. With an already impressive footprint in flight training and maintenance, Airways Aviation's newly expanded authorization streamlines its capability to maintain and service a wider range of Diamond Aircraft, further benefiting both Airways Aviation's own substantial fleet and external customers seeking comprehensive support and expertise.

Romy Hawatt, Founder and Chairman of Airways Aviation Group commented: "This agreement marks another significant step in our strategic collaboration with Diamond Aircraft. Our relationship has grown year after year, underpinned by our shared dedication to quality, safety and innovation. By strengthening our maintenance and engineering capabilities in Europe and Australia, we can continue to deliver the highest standards of service to our global customer base, whether that is training the next generation of pilots or supporting third-party aircraft owners."

Luca Giaquinta, Global Director of Aftersales at Diamond Aircraft Group stated : "We are delighted to extend our partnership with Airways Aviation and recognise their achievements as Europe's largest owner-operator of Diamond Aircraft. Airways Aviation's extensive operational experience, high standards and first-class facilities underscored by the second highest number of Diamond flight hours recorded globally in 2024, makes them an ideal service partner to uphold Diamond's unwavering commitment to quality, safety and reliability."
