TAG Aviation's Maintenance Services Centre at Le Bourget Airport in Paris, France, has been awarded the Bombardier Authorized Service Facility (ASF) Excellence Award for Line Maintenance for a fourth consecutive year.

Bombardier ASF Excellence Awards are presented annually to Bombardier Business Aircraft ASFs that deliver the best performance across a set of specific measurable criteria that include quality assurance, technical compliance and customer influence.

The coveted aviation industry award was accepted by Franck Madignier, President Maintenance and FBO Services, TAG Aviation Europe and Xavier Sauque, TAG Aviation's Line Station Manager for Le Bourget at this year's Bombardier Business Aircraft 8th annual AFS Excellence Awards ceremony which took place on 17th October at the 2018 Business Aviation (NBAA) Convention and Exhibition in Orlando, Florida.

"We are proud and delighted that our line maintenance facility at Paris-Le Bourget has again received this industry recognition which is testament to our hardworking onsite maintenance team and high levels of customer service", said Franck Madignier, President Maintenance and FBO Services, TAG Aviation Europe. "TAG Le Bourget is a key maintenance centre within our network and one of the most popular airports for business aviation in Europe. As an authorized maintenance facility for Bombardier business jets it provides an important line maintenance support for Bombardier operators."

"Bombardier is proud to offer our customers the highest levels of service and support", said Bill Molloy, Vice President, Aftermarket Sales and Commercial Strategy, Bombardier Business Aircraft. "We recognise and congratulate TAG Aviation on receiving this award for a fourth year which again demonstrates our shared commitment to outstanding customer service. TAG Aviation continues to impress us with their aircraft maintenance expertise and superior capability."
